Q1: Read the dialogue and answer the following questions:

As you enter the British Museum, you go into the Great Court. There are two cafés, a souvenir shop, a bookshop and the famous Reading Room. Visit the galleries to see famous objects like the Aztec turquoise serpent, the Sutton Hoo treasure and the Egyptian mummies. Do you want to feel what people felt in the past? Visit the "Hands on" desks and touch the objects from the museum's collection! How can you get to the British Museum? Simple! There are four underground stations near it. Get off at Russell Square. Walk down Southampton Row. Turn right at Great Russell Street. Look out for the road sign; it's a one-way street. Walk past Bloomsbury Square on your left and Bedford Place and Montague Street on your right, and there you are. If you get to the traffic lights, you're gone too far!

Q5: C. Suggested answer

The Royal Automobile Museum in Amman is very exciting. It was established in 2003 upon King Abdullah's wishes. I like it so much because it has a nice collection of royal cars from the past and modern sports cars, too. I like it very much and wish to visit it again.
