An Enjoyable Lunch

I have always been a fan of Lebanese food. So when I heard that a new Lebanese restaurant, Beirut Corner, had opened in a shopping mall in my town, I was very excited.

My friend and I decided to drop into Beirut Corner last Friday. We planned to go for a late lunch at around 2 p.m. in order to avoid the crowds. But to our surprise, the restaurant was already packed with customers. Everybody was chatting happily as they enjoyed their food.

Fortunately, we did not have to wait long for a table. Our waiter was efficient, helpful and friendly. He gave us some good recommendations about what to order, including the house speciality – marinated chicken wrapped in vine leaves and served with potatoes and coriander.

I chose red lentil soup to start with, followed by grilled fish and salad. The soup had a wonderful spicy flavour, and the fish was light and delicious. My friend ordered grilled halloumi cheese with herbs, followed by the marinated chicken. She said it was very juicy and tender.

It is easy to see why Beirut Corner is so popular. The food is delicious, the service is excellent and the atmosphere is friendly and welcoming. Our only mistake was that we got full too quickly, so we had no room for a dessert. But the desserts looked delicious. I'm definitely going to try them next time!

- c. "I chose red lentil soup to start with, followed by grilled fish and salad. The soup had a wonderful spicy flavor, and the fish was light and delicious." (details are in blue-supporting details)
