What did you do in the summer holidays? Write some sentences describing what you did.

I had big plans for this past summer. I was going to make a lot of progress writing my new book (and I did!); I was going to organize my house and my life (and I sort of did); and I was going to have fun with my friends and my family (and I definitely did.) But I also did something else this summer. Something unexpected that I never thought I would really do. Don't get too excited. It's not anything that big, and I am sorry to report it didn't impact society in any meaningful way. I'll save that for next year. This summer I learned how to play golf. Actually, I became a

Some verbs change completely to make the past tense.

These kind of verbs are called irregular verbs.

1 Read, find and write.

When we go on holiday we don't have much time to write, so we often send our friends and family postcards from the places we visit. Writing postcards is different from writing letters or e-mails because we usually write them very quickly and we use short sentences.

Look at these sentences about the story. The people and the verbs are missing from the story. Use the words in the sausages to help you complete the sentences.

Paul's brother playing with his sister.

ul's father burning sausages.

ul's sister putting a cloth on the table.

4. Paul's cousin pulling flowers in the garden.
