You are going to hear some information about a great writer called Gibran twice. First time, listen and shade. Second time, listen and check your work. Listen and complete the table.

Gibran Khalil Gibran was born in Lebanon in 1883. He was the son of Khalil Bin Gibran and Kamila. He had two sisters, Mariana and Sultana, a half -brother, Peter, who was from his mother's previous marriage, but his mother was a very smart woman. She could speak Arabic, French, and English. She also had artistic talent for music. She taught Gibran at home. She influenced Gibran's thinking to a great extent.

Gibran went to America with his brother and mother. There he joined in a school and he was doing very well in his studies. He came back to Lebanon and studied at Madarasat Al Hikmat (School of wisdom) from 1896 to 1901. At the age of 18, he graduated from there and went on to Paris to learn painting.

During the following years, Gibran painted, designed book covers and wrote in Arabic many short essays. In 1912, he moved to New York and lived there for all his life. In 1923, 'The Prophet' was published. It is one of his most well-known books and it has now been translated into over 20 different languages. He was one of the great writers who tried to modernize the Arabic writing in the Middle East countries.

Dear Nasser,

As you know, I have started reading novels since I was 12 years old. I was reading a great novel last week titled "Pride and Prejudice" and I really enjoyed that. I am sending this e-mail to tell you more about this lovely novel.

Pride and Prejudice is a novel that was written by Jane Austen. It was first published in 1813 in England. It has become one of the most popular novels in English literature and more than 22 million copies were sold. At the beginning, the novel was called "First Impressions" and then Jane renamed it into "Pride and Prejudice". It tells the story of Mr. and Mrs. Bennet's five unmarried daughters after the rich and smart Mr. Bingley and his friend, Mr. Darcy, have moved into their neighborhood. Elizabeth Bennet, the second of the five daughters, plays the role of the main character in the novel. In the novel, she is known as Lizzy. She is twenty years old and she is intelligent, lively and attractive.

The major theme in this novel is the importance of environment and development of young people's character and morality.

I have enclosed a copy of the novel's cover page and I hope you find this e-mail interesting.

Best wishes,
Ahmed
