Write a paragraph about meeting and greeting people in your culture

Greeting someone differs from one country to another. The UAE culture is a good example for visitors to see how people are meeting and greeting each other with respect.

In formal situations , you may greet someone with " Al Salaam Aleikum ". The proper reply is " Waleikum Assalaam ". For men , shaking hands is the most common way of greeting. It is important to shake hands with your right hand. They also touch noses. However , women shake hands and may kiss on cheeks. Finally , the young can greet the elder people by kissing them on the head or the forehead. Informally ,close friends and family members may hug and kiss each others.

In my opinion , greeting people is very important. It shows politeness and respect.

My inspiring Relative

The person I love the most in my family is my uncle. He is my father's brother. His name is Omar. He is 40 years old. He was born in Dubai but he lives in Ajman. I admire him because he is so generous. He always brings us gifts. He is hard working, kind, helpful and calm. He has a positive nature. He is funny, he always tells jokes. Really, I want to be like him. I love him so much. He is so inspiring.

My favorite subjects

At school. We study many subjects like: Islamic studies, Arabic, English, Social studies, Design and Technology, Art, Music, maths and science. My favorite subjects are English and Design and Technology. I love English because we learn a new language and we learn how to spell new words. We also learn grammar and vocabulary. I also love design and Technology because it is a new subject and we learn to design new things like houses and other things. It helps us to be creative. I really love everything about subjects because they are useful.
